

Displaced Diets: Urbanization, Indigenous Marginalization, and Nutritional Vulnerability in the Patra Community of Sylhet, Bangladesh

Key Message: Urban displacement and socio-cultural marginalization have forced the Patra indigenous community from self-sufficient, forest-based food systems into nutritionally insecure, market-dependent diets, intensifying vulnerabilities among women, children, and the elderly.

Photo Source: The Business Standard